GOVERNMENT NEARS CLOSE OF EVIDENCE IN BRIDGES CASE
San Francisco, July 29.—(AP)—Government counsel neared the close of its presentation of the deportation case against Harry Bridges today, waiting a decision whether it might add Bridges himself to the list of 16 witnesses it has offered.

Citing accepted immigration service procedure, the government proposed to place the Australian-born west coast C. I. O. director in the witness chair when the case—already the longest in the history of the immigration service, government men said—resumes some time next week.

Bridges' attorneys objected. They insisted on the right to produce Bridges when they see fit, somewhere among at least 19 others who will be summoned in attempted refutation of the charge that the lean longshore leader is an alien, deportable to his native Australia, because of asserted membership in a party advocating overthrow of the United States government.

NATION-WIDE HUNT IS STARTED FOR LOUIS LEPKE

Called "Most Dangerous Industrial Racketeer" by Dewey

New York, July 29.—(AP)—The "mistake murder" of a good natured music firm executive who "never had an enemy in the world" touched off a nation-wide hunt today for Louis Lepke, described by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey as the "most dangerous industrial racketeer in the United States."

Cutting short his vacation to take personal charge, Dewey organized the hunt to take Lepke "dead or alive" and stop what he termed a "war of extermination" blamed for five gangland executions.

Two other men have been wounded in the racket warfare and two inexplicably were missing. The district attorney said he would ask the board of estimate to boost to $25,000 its present $5,000 reward offered for the capture of the big-nosed, thick-lipped fugitive, deposed overlord of the garment and baking industry labor rackets.

An additional $5,000 was offered by the federal bureau of investigation. The hunt for Lepke, who skipped $10,000 bail two years ago while awaiting trial on anti-trust charges, was intensified by the assassination last Tuesday of Isadore Penn, a 240-pound Bronx householder. Four men ambushed the startled victim and shot him five times.

Penn, jolly and widely popular in the music publishers field, died ignorant of why he had been shot. Dewey confirmed the belief the killers had erred and said their intended victim was Philip Orlovsky, a former official of a garment labor union dominated by Lepke and his partner, Jacob "Gurrah" Shapiro. Orlovsky and Penn lived in the same apartment building and were of similar build.

"In my judgment the community is faced with an organized effort to eliminate all former gangster associates of Lepke and Gurrah," Dewey said. "While Gurrah surrendered last year to serve his two-year federal sentence, it is believed he did so in order to avoid being murdered by his own partner, Lepke."

The district attorney said Orlovsky was "one of the toughest men in New York," and if he "would talk, the underworld would be cracked wide open." Despite the realization he has been marked for death, police said Orlovsky has kept silent.

Dewey expressed belief Lepke was somewhere in the east and said operatives twice had come within a few hours of catching up with him. Federal agents have trailed him to Cuba and California.

"HUMAN BOMB" BANK BANDIT IS CAPTURED

Gives Up Quietly to Small Town Policeman

Kansas City, July 29.—(AP)—John Thornburg, "human bomb" bank bandit who threatened to "blow anyone to hell that tries to take me," gave up quietly enough to a small town policeman who told him "we can use you over at our place."

Arrested at Nevada, Mo., Thornburg was brought here for arraignment on charges of robbing the First National bank of Chanute, Kas., in March.

He was recognized on a Nevada street by Demus Becket, student in a Sunday school class Thornburg once taught at Caney, Kas.

Arrested in a pool hall yesterday, he readily admitted holding up the bank by threatening to set off three sticks of dynamite taped to his stomach. He obtained $4,860. He escaped in a taxicab, abandoned it at Fayetteville, Ark., and took a bus to Alabama.

"I wasn't going any place in particular," he said, "just roaming, I guess. Around June 1 I was in New York."

From New York Thornburg went south, then west. He even visited old Mexico. He had bought an auto which he later sold.

Joe Balch, Chanute city attorney whom Thornburg forced to accompany him while he robbed the bank, asked him what he had done with the money. He had only $2.84.

"I guess I spent it mostly traveling," Thornburg replied.

"Was that why you robbed the bank—for no other reason than to travel?" a reporter asked.

Thornburg looked out the window "If I had the words of the greatest of orators," he said, "I could not explain why I did it. I didn't need the money."

"I saved a dollar today"
It's a great satisfaction to look over the day's accounts and find you've been able to save money by careful buying.
Knowing where to buy is part of the trick. But knowing how to buy is a bigger part. The wise "business manager" of the home plans her shopping as skilfully as a business man plans to spend a thousand dollars.
Advertisements help greatly, of course. On daily necessities like meats, fruits, vegetables, they show you how to save 2c here, 3c there, adding up to much. But advertisements are just as helpful on larger purchases—furniture, draperies, motor cars, clothing. Followed carefully, advertising saves you money all down the line... helps you run the household more economically... gives the budget a chance to breathe!
